

REACTION SEEN TO BRITISH NOTE ON REPARATIONS

Relations With France
Becoming More Serious
Hourly

REPLY IS AWAITED

Belief Prevails That Brit-
tain Will Be Compelled
to Act Separately

London, Aug. 15.—As a result of reports from Paris showing an alarming reaction to the British reparations note, Anglo-French relations took a serious turn, culminating in Premier Baldwin holding an hour's anxious conference with King George at the palace.

Whitehall officials, from their information, hope that Premier Poincare's reply, which, owing to the gravity of the crisis, will be forwarded sooner than was expected, will be couched in terms which will possibly avert a breaking up of the entente.

Nevertheless, the general opinion is that Britain will finally be compelled to take separate action with Germany and that Premier Baldwin may have to call a special session of parliament for the purpose of determining the future policy.

There is no blinking the fact that relations between the two governments is becoming more strained hourly, and in view of threatened revolution in Germany it is likely that Britain will speedily call a world conference to decide Germany's capacity to pay reparations as well as all matters affecting world trade and the world's peace.

The foreign office quickly spiked Lord Birkenhead's charge that Britain had never before questioned the legality of the French occupation of the Ruhr by quoting from the French "Yellow Book." The publication included an extract from messages from the French ambassador in London to Paris, quoting a conversation with Lord Curzon on June 11. In one wire the ambassador said: "Lord Curzon told me that the British government considers our action in the Ruhr contrary to the treaty of Versailles."

The foreign office also states that the coalition government raised the question of the legality of the proposed Ruhr occupation by France in the summer of 1922, but refrained from pressing the question, as there was no wish to embarrass the allies. At that time, however, France was given a distinct warning that the invasion of the Ruhr by them alone would be illegal.

DISTRICT MASONIC PICNIC LABOR DAY TO ATTRACT CROWDS

The annual picnic of Xenia Lodge No. 49, F. and A. M., which was to have been held August 15, at Kill Kare Park, has been postponed, and in its place, there will be a District Masonic picnic held Labor Day, Monday, September 3, on Bryn a Farm Yellow Springs, it is announced.

The picnic will be one of the largest affairs in the fraternal order, in this part of the state, according to Masons. The district is composed of Greene, Clinton, Fayette and Pickaway Counties. The picnic will be an all-day basket gathering, music, dancing, bathing, games and other sports to amuse the crowd will be offered.

Grand W. M. of Ohio, H. M. Johnson, with Mrs. Johnson, and other notables in the order will be present at the picnic. District Lecturer, M. J. Sparks of Wilmington, is chairman of the affair, and Jacob Kany, of Xenia Lodge, this city, is chairman of the refreshment committee.

FOUL BROOD HITS BEES OF STATE

Columbus, Aug. 15.—The brood disease situation among bees throughout the state is so serious that the agricultural department has thought it necessary to call a meeting of Ohio beekeepers. The meeting is to be held in the Horticultural building at 10 o'clock on Thursday, Aug. 30, during the state fair. The purpose of the conference, says State Apiarist Charles Reese, is to consider steps to be taken for the eradication of American foul brood, a disease which is completely covering almost every county, and is at its worst in apiaries surrounding our larger cities.

DEVALERA ARRESTED BY FREE STATERS

Dublin, Aug. 15.—Eamonn De Valera, leader of the Irish Republicans and the most aggressive political foe of the Free State was arrested in County Clare today while making a campaign speech.

De Valera had not been speaking more than two minutes when the cry went up:

"Soldiers are coming!"

The Free State troops rushed up firing a volley into the air over the platform. Then they closed in and seized De Valera, who made no protest.

CAUSE OF MYSTERY FIRES UNKNOWN AS CHEMISTS WORK

While chemists are continuing their investigation of the source of the mysterious fires Monday at the D. A. DeWine residence, near Old Town, Mr. and Mrs. DeWine are leaving the house empty, spending Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John DeWine, in this city.

Clyde F. Adams and Austin G. Edeson, Antioch College chemists, who are attempting to solve the mystery, had nothing to report Wednesday although still continuing their investigations. They are testing articles of wearing apparel and cloth and burned as well as other cloth in the house that did not catch fire, in an attempt to find the presence of some combustible chemical that may have caused the conflagrations.

As a sequel to a mysterious fire two weeks ago, when wearing apparel suddenly combusted without apparent cause, there were twelve separate blazes at the DeWine home Monday starting at ten o'clock in the morning and ending at three in the afternoon. These fires broke off in wardrobes, cupboards and closets and in dresser drawers, on curtains that were taken down and laid on a table and in a mattress that had been stripped of bed covers.

There were no more fires Tuesday, nor Wednesday morning, an investigation made by Mr. DeWine Wednesday showed. A theory advanced Tuesday that bleaching powder used in laundering had caused combustion was exploded by an investigation which showed the woman who washes the DeWine clothes uses nothing but a washing lye and a naphtha soap. Lye is a potash and would not cause the mysterious fires, it is said.

Dr. A. M. Patterson, who advanced this theory, said Wednesday he realized the bleaching powder theory was impracticable after learning fuller details of the fires. For bleaching powder to cause a conflagration it would have to be left in the clothes in quantities and then left in a tightly closed-up place for some time. The fact that some of the inflammable material was in the open air, explodes this possibility, he said.

W. H. Dinges, pharmacist, proprietor of Dinges drug store, this city, and U. E. Clark, his assistant, are advancing a theory that the fires were caused by an invasion of the house by marsh gas from the pond near the dwelling. The pond is used to develop water power to operate the DeWine Milling Company plant across the road, but had been allowed to dry up recently.

The local men suggest that gas was formed in the peat and mud in the bottom of the pond, due to the hot weather and proper contributing atmospheric conditions. This gas is the same that is visible above marshes as a phosphorescent at night, when it ignites due to contact with the oxygen in the air, causing a glow above marshes. It is combustible when it comes in contact with the air. It is possible, it is said, that the marsh gas filled cupboards and dresser drawers in the house and seeped linens and clothes, so that when properly exposed to the air they burst into flame.

The pond was flooded Tuesday, before this theory was produced, which eliminates the possibility of a test. Otherwise, it is said, the chemists may have been able to acquire some of this gas for a combustion test. All of the fires have broken out in cotton goods, a further point in favor of the marsh gas theory, it is said. The only woolen article that burned caught fire from contact with a burning cotton piece. The mattress was entirely cotton it is said. Mr. and Mrs. DeWine will continue to leave the house unoccupied until the mystery is explained.

MOVES AGAINST MASKED RAIDERS

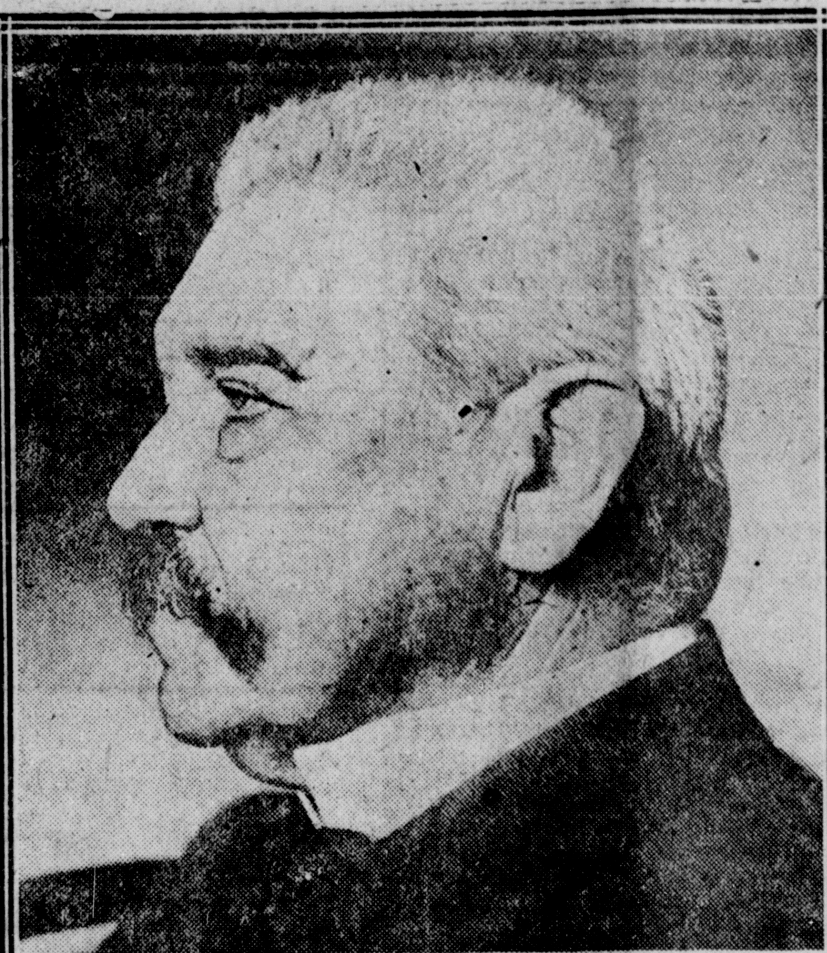

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 15.—Martial law descended upon Tulsa by decree of Governor J. C. Walton, as the result of recent cases of mob violence. There have been numerous cases of whippings recently. Three companies of infantry, equipped with automatic rifles, will enforce the military rule under command of Adjutant General B. H. Markham.

OVER 100 ENTOMBED MINERS PERISH

IS HE STILL POWER IN GERMANY?

Field Marshal von Hindenburg

Here is the most recent and an unusually intimate photograph of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, who was one of the most powerful figures in Germany in the World War, as commander of all her armies. Whether he retains all that power now is not known outside of Germany, but it is conceded he is much of a popular public figure.

TREATY BETWEEN U. S. AND MEXICO CONCLUDED; RECOGNITION NEAR

Washington, Aug. 15.—A treaty of amity and commerce has been concluded between the United States and Mexico as the final step in the international negotiations, leading to the political recognition of the Obregon government, it was learned here today.

Official announcement of recognition will be made by the State Department as soon as the treaty has been approved by Secretary Hughes. This may take place before the end of the week.

The negotiations which were carried on in Mexico City between Charles Beecher Warren and John Barton Payne, the American commissioners and representatives of the Mexican government, were entirely successful, according to administration officials and the treaty which has been drafted, has settled all outstanding differences between the two governments.

CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK WILL TAKE UP STRIKE

Miners and Operators
Gather at Call of Government.

New York, Aug. 15.—Representatives of miners and operators of the anthracite coal fields were gathering here today for a conference with the United States Coal Commission.

John L. Lewis, international union president, heads the miner delegation. Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators committee, will be spokesman for his group. John Hayes Hammond, chairman of the commission, will preside over the conference.

The position of the three factions as outlined in pre-conference statements showed:

Lewis: While accepting the government's invitation to confer the miners have in no way backed down from their demand that the operators grant full recognition of the union.

Warriner: The operators, now as always, are ready to arbitrate all differences.

Hammond: On September 1, the coal bins in many thousand homes will be absolutely bare. It is the duty of the coal commission to remedy the facts, to place responsibility where it belongs, recommending a course of action in the interest of those without household fuel.

The conference was expected to last two or three days.

The main controversy will revolve, it was predicted, around the checkoff system—the union's method of collecting dues, assessments and penalties. This system is in operation in the soft coal fields but has been turned down by the anthracite operators.

TO DEVELOP NEW GAS FIELD

Cleveland, Aug. 15.—An attempt to develop a new gas field, the East Ohio Gas company proposes to go down to the Clinton sand, in Guernsey county, which geologists estimate will be struck at about 5,300 feet. This is 1,000 feet deeper than other Ohio wells.

DEALERS CUT PRICES

Carrington, O., Aug. 15.—Gasoline dealers here are waging a price-cutting war. One dealer is selling "gas" for 19 cents a gallon. Others are charging 20 cents, while a few are sticking to 22 cents.

Draft Evader Bergdoll Kidnaps Wounded Man

Heidelberg, Germany, August 15.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious American draft evader, has kidnaped Carl Sperber, the wounded man who tried to spirit him into France. Bergdoll himself drove the car which came to the hospital to get Sperber. Three policemen from Eberbach accompanied Bergdoll. All refused to say where Sperber had been taken.

Three other prisoners also have been taken away, including Lieutenant C. Heoven Griffiths, formerly of the A. E. F., from Hamilton, Ohio, and the supposed American citizen, Victor Nielsen from Chicago.

Bergdoll says they have been taken to remote parts of Germany but he refuses to divulge their whereabouts. The small police force at Eberbach, feared the French acting for the Americans, might rescue the prisoners.

Instead of facing trial for the murder of Carl Schmidt three days ago, Bergdoll has become a great hero to the German population. The public prosecutor says there is no case against him, since the man he killed was a Swiss-American trying to kidnap an American slacker. When Mrs. Bergdoll was asked if Grover had kidnaped Sperber she replied:

"Yes, he did good work that time!"

When Bergdoll was asked where he had taken the prisoner he replied:

"I won't tell a damned American!"

The story of Sperber's kidnaping is pathetic. He had been confined in a German Hospital behind iron bars. When he regained consciousness his first words were: "Where are the three others?"

This gave the police their first indication that Sperber took part in the kidnaping of the slacker. Sperber, whose papers show that he was a permanent resident of Paris said to his nurse:

"I don't regret what I did. I would do it again if I had a chance and there are thousands of others who would do the same."

When Bergdoll, driving the car, arrived at the hospital, Sperber thought it contained comrades from the Paris Branch of the American Legion who had promised to come to his rescue if he were captured. He left the hospital willingly.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The state department was formally appealed to today by James A. MacFarland, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans to bring to justice Grover Cleveland Bergdoll the "super-slacker" who has "so brazenly taunted the authority of the U. S."

In his plea to Secretary Hughes, MacFarland also requested that the department "take every precaution for the safety of our fellow member, C. Heoven Griffiths, who is under arrest at Eberbach, Germany, for an alleged part in an attempt to kidnap Bergdoll."

Eberbach, Germany, Aug. 15.—The Baden government today asked Berlin to protest to Washington against the attempted kidnaping of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, rich American draft dodger.

While there is high feeling here, there have been no outbreaks. False stories were circulated in the United States that a mob tried to storm the jail. No such scene took place. The prisoners are being guarded safely.

COOLIDGE NAMES SLEMP, SECRETARY

Washington, Aug. 15.—Former Representative C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia, has been tendered the position of secretary to President Coolidge.

The appointment of Mr. Slemp came as a surprise inasmuch as his name had not been mentioned in connection with the secretaryship.

Mr. Slemp was born at Turkey Cove, Lee County, Virginia, in 1870. He was graduated from the Virginia Military Institute in 1891; studied law at the University of Virginia; taught mathematics at the Virginia Military Institute and later practiced law at Big Stone Gap, Va., his present home.

Undercurrent of political activity was noted today in the ranks of the Republican party following the appointment of Slemp.

Republican leaders think Coolidge ultimately will be a candidate for a second term and look upon Slemp's appointment as a sagacious political move to consolidate Coolidge support along the Atlantic seaboard. With Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, leading a Coolidge boom in New England, the Slemp appointment is expected to win strong support for the President among southern factions of the party.

TO PROBE KILLING OF WOMAN

New Lexington, O., Aug. 15.—A special grand jury will investigate the first degree murder charge against Thomas Smith of San Toy, near here, for the alleged killing of Mrs. James Bragan. Bragan told Sheriff Mingshall that Smith fired a shotgun at him but missed, the charge killing Mrs. Bragan.

DONAHEY APPEALS TO COOLIDGE FOR "GAS" SOLUTION

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—Excessive prices on gasoline—if the present prices are excessive—are a matter for national action it was decided at a conference called by Governor A. V. Donahey in the executive offices yesterday. In attendance he had Fred H. Caley, of Cleveland, Harold H. Gorman, of Cleveland, and Charles C. James, of Columbus, respectively President, General Counsel and Secretary of the Ohio State Automobile Association.

They discussed all phases of the situation, but concluded there is little that can be done by the state. They decided that the Attorney General's department should attempt to learn if there is any violation of the Valentine anti-trust law and a letter to this effect was sent by the Governor.

Although the automobile representatives ask for Ohio the benefit of the reductions which have been given to other states, they are unwilling that Ohio shall attempt to go into the gasoline distribution business.

It was pointed out that not only is there a chance of heavy losses, but also there is opposition to state business as a matter of principle. Besides, Mr. Gorman said, 500,000 gallons which the state of South Dakota bought in the open market would supply Ohio five hours. Here the consumption is 500,000,000 gallons a year.

The conferees believed that Ohio should have the advantage of low gasoline prices if the reduced prices are sound economically, but they are unwilling to see independent gasoline producers crushed by the power of huge corporations like the Standard Oil Company.

The conferees are not too certain that the spectacular beginning of the price-cutting movement in South Dakota was not a deliberate design introduced into the situation by the oil monopolistic interests.

In automobile use it was admitted the price of gasoline is only an incident of the importance of which may readily be over-estimated.

With this background, the request to the National Government may be interpreted as a request for information. Governor Donahey said if the limit of his constitutional powers he is anxious that it be taken and he may confer with Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, and Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, states with a heavy consumption, like Ohio, if any practical plan can be devised. The automobile organizations declined to be interested in any private distribution plan.

His telegram to President Coolidge is:

"Permit me to call to your attention that gasoline is retailing in Ohio at 22 cents a gallon. Newspaper reports inform us that the price in 10 or more states, including Indiana, our neighbor to the West, has been cut to 16 cents. We are all wondering why this discrimination between adjoining states. The citizens of Ohio desire gasoline at a fair price. All states are entitled to it."

"We have heard much about an over-supply of gasoline and about excessive reductions in some of the states appear to prove these reports. It has become a national problem. May I urge that an immediate searching investigation by the Federal Government to ascertain the facts so that justice may be done to all concerned be conducted."

GAS IS RESPONSIBLE

Authorities to Investigate
Disaster Which Takes
Heavy Death Toll

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 15.—One hundred and two dead is the total today of the terrific explosion in Frontier mine No. 1, of the Kemmerer Coal Company which entombed 137 men and shook the countryside yesterday morning, shortly after the workings. Ninety bodies had been removed early this morning and 11 more were known to be in the mine.

Thirty-five men were rescued alive but one died as he was being taken out. Black-damp gas, the coal miners' menap, was blamed for the blast that trapped them in the slopes.

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 15.—Thirty-seven miners have come back from the grave. It is feared all of their comrades, 104, are dead. Six bodies have been recovered. The men were entombed by an explosion in the Frontier mine of the Kemmerer Coal company.

The survivors were brought to the surface by attaches of the United States bureau of mines. At that time the rescuers feared no more men would be found alive.

Two rescue cars were rushed to Kemmerer, the first being an educational car of the Colorado-New Mexico district. Four hours after the explosion the trained government men organized miners who rushed to the scene. A milling mass of miners became an effective working force.

Scores of hysterical women and children stood about the mine entrances all day. Touching scenes followed the rescue of the 37 men. They were uninjured. Some of them insisted on joining the rescuers searching for their lost comrades.

The first body recovered was that of George Wormer, a pump tender. Five other bodies were recovered a little later. All had been caught in the fire that followed the explosion. The explosion was 1,700 feet below the surface. The mine is an old one.

The fire is believed to have been gotten under control. The rescue workers are now at the fifteenth level, where a mass of debris blocked entrance to the lower levels. Several hours will be required to force an opening, and not until then will the fate of the missing men be known.

State and federal officials arranged for an investigation. Formal inquiries will be held by the coroner. The rescuers worked heroically throughout the night.

Two more trips were made into the mine after the 37 survivors had been brought out, but no sign of life was found. Fear was expressed that all were dead.

The mine rescue workers, after being below several hours, reported the explosion was evidently caused by gas and not by dust. The dead lay all along the slope, where they fell, suffocated.

Water is rising in the mine. Two pumps were disabled by the explosion. They had a capacity of 18,000 gallons per minute. The lower levels are filling rapidly, but it is believed the trapped men would not be in danger of the flood for at least 24 hours, if alive, where they were on levels above the floor that is flooding.

John Pavlizin, a miner, saved the lives of 26 men in the 29th entry. He has been in three other explosions and appealed to the men to stay out of the main slope, and of 69 men, 26 obeyed and saved their lives. They returned to the entry and barricaded themselves against the deadly gas with brattice cloth, timbers and canvas. Pavlizin is the hero of the catastrophe.

The mine had more than 30 entries near the surface, but the number decreases as depth is reached. There are only a few points of exit from the 1,700 foot level.

CRIME DUE TO JEALOUSY

Toledo, Aug. 15.—Jealousy is blamed by the police for the fatal shooting of William Fritz, 27, while seated in an automobile with a female companion. Two men approached the automobile, and while one of the men trained a flashlight on the occupants the other shot Fritz through the jugular vein. The girl, who gave her name as Marjory Stiles, was arrested and held as a witness. The assailants escaped.

GOING IT TOO HARD?

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Leonard Jones, car inspector Home Ave., Xenia, gave the following statement Aug. 2, 1917: "Heavy lifting and working in a cramped position while repairing cars brought on lumbago. I was stiff and lame across the small of my back. After I had worked in a cramped position for a few minutes I could hardly straighten up. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and began to use them. They certainly proved to be the medicine I needed for I began to get better immediately and after using a few boxes was rid of this attack. Since then I have resorted to Doan's at the first symptom of lumbago and they quickly relieve it."

On Aug. 15, 1921, Mr. Jones confirmed the above statement by saying: "Doan's deserve the highest praise I can give them as they absolutely cured me of kidney trouble some years ago."

To Recall the Operator

WHEN you lift the telephone receiver, a small electric light glows on the switchboard in front of the operator.

While the hook is up the light burns, press it down and the light goes out.

When you "jiggle" the receiver hook rapidly the tiny electric globe barely flickers or does not light at all.

But when you move the hook up and down s-l-o-w-l-y, the signal lamp glows and goes out at regular intervals and thus attracts the operator's attention. Your line is only one of several she is handling and watchful as her eyes are, she cannot serve you properly unless you allow the signal lamp to function correctly.

Visit a central office and see the signal lamp and other apparatus in operation. Arrangements for a trip may be made at the business office.

REUNION INVITATION

WRITTEN IN VERSE
Mrs. Hulda Glass Hatfield, is the author of a quaint poem, issued among the members of the Glass family, and their friends, inviting them to attend the annual Glass family reunion, August 15. The poem reads:

"The Glass' will again this year,
Have their reunion at 'Old Ross High.'
Where birds sing gaily in the branches over head,
'Neath a canopy of deep blue sky.
So just bring all your family,
And all your friends along.
With a basket full of good things,
And help to swell the throng.
And no difference how you're feeling;
Get on your face a smile,
For on August fifteenth, don't you know,
You'll find it worth your while?"

IT STARTED SOMETHING

"I have not said anything to you, but have been saying to others and have induced many to take your medicine and be convinced. May's Wonderful Remedy is perfectly named. It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

HAS TEAR BOMB TO GUARD BANK

Guy Pillsbury, guard at the Xenia National Bank, now has a tear bomb for use in case of an attack from bank bandits.

Pillsbury occupies an armored compartment on the mezzanine floor of the bank, overlooking the lobby, where he has a clear view of all who enter the institution. He is armed with rifles, shotguns and revolvers and from his vantage point could command the situation in case of an invasion of hold-up men.

With the tear bomb, Pillsbury says he could have bandits at his mercy in a short time without firing a shot.

SOUTHERN NEGROES COME NORTH FOR A "SQUARE DEAL"

In the wholesale migration of Negroes from the South there is being created a condition of affairs and a social and political problem that call for the exercise of the wisest statesmanship of which the people of the United States are capable.

A profoundly significant and impressive document that has just been addressed to the Legislature and people of Georgia by a group of the best colored citizens of that State—clergymen, educators, lawyers, bank presidents and business men of character and standing, many of whom are well known throughout the country at large—may be taken as representing not only the "45 per cent of the State population of Georgia," as they sign themselves, but as voicing the views of the great body of the Negroes of the South; the migrants as well as those who remain.

This letter is a deeply moving statement of the facts as the Negroes see them, expressed with a breadth of view, a courage and moderation and an earnestness of purpose that must command instant attention and the utmost sympathy. It sets forth, in the first place, what must be obvious to most observers—that the migration is no hasty impulse of a restless and unsettled people. Its authors keenly realize that "there is probably no more suitable place to be found in the whole world for colored people than our own Southland" and that there is much for them to lose in abandoning the economic, social, religious and educational institutions which they have built up in the last fifty years. The bare fact that they are leaving in such great numbers their homes and lifelong associations for new and uncertain conditions of life reveals the gravity of the conditions which the migrants are seeking to escape.

There are abundant reasons for the movement in the economic and social surroundings of the Negroes of the South. While this letter refers solely to Georgia, that State differs only in a degree from other localities which are also being decimated. Poor wages and the high cost of living, insanitary housing, the oppressive labor methods growing out of absentee landlords and the employment of overseers, totally inadequate and inequitable educational facilities, the discriminations to which Negroes are forced to submit on the railroads, inequality in the enforcement of the laws, mob violence and contract-labor laws which subject the people to restrictions hardly less onerous than in the days of legal slavery—these are all recited as sufficient reasons for driving the colored people to seek new homes and new fields of labor.

The whole truth, as these thoughtful and sincere Negroes of Georgia have had the courage to set it forth, is that a large percentage of the race have lost faith in the willingness or the intention of the whites ever to treat the colored people justly and to allow them to become a basic part of our civilization. "The cause of most of the trouble," they say, "lies in the fundamental error of attempting to run a democracy without all the people." It results in one-sided legislation against which the victims have no weapon of defense. These brave Georgian Negroes emphatically deny the charge, so often hurled at them, that they have ambition either for so-called social equality or for domination. They point with pride to the record of loyalty and faithfulness of their fathers through two and a half centuries of slavery to show how well they stood the test, and they declare that they only covet a fair chance to serve in the largest possible way their fellowmen.

POOR CAMOUFLAGED RUSSIA.

George Kennan, writer on Russian affairs, has given out a statement on the subject of the soviet constitution, in which he says: "On July 4, 1923, the anniversary of American independence, the executive committees of the soviet government in Russia adopted a 'constitution' which is ostensibly modeled on that of the United States. It provides for the election of two houses of parliament, the formation of a 'cabinet,' the establishment of a supreme court and the creation of a federal government that would seem on its face to be as free, liberal and modern as ours. But let no one be deceived. The Russian leopard has not changed its spots. The first essentials of republican institutions are freedom of elections, freedom of assembly and freedom of the press, and these things the new bolshevik 'constitution' does not guarantee—nor even promise. It leaves all power just where it has been for the last five years—in the hands of a small group of self-appointed bureaucrats, whom the people can neither remove nor control. There never has been a free election, a free assembly or a free press in Russia since Lenin and Trotsky dispersed the constituent assembly, usurped governmental authority and proceeded to make their positions secure by killing 1,000,000 or more of their opponents and driving the rest out of the country."

"COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE."

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Dollar wheat is here, according to Chicago market reports. In Chicago's wheat pit at the board of trade, pandemonium reigned. The country is face to face with a practical famine in immediately available wheat. In a speech in Indianapolis, yesterday, William Jennings Bryan declared that there was no more possibility of Grover Cleveland being nominated president than that the moon was made of cheese. He was anxious, he said, that the men who stand for "true Democracy" should control the state committees next year, and the way to do that was to organize.

The $75 platoon, which was given away at the National Billiard hall by Mr. John Hor, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, was won by Mr. Dan Dean.

Reader Friends have been kind enough to mail me the following canning recipes to publish so that other women might enjoy them:
"Pineapple-Apricot Jam: Three large or four small pineapples, two pounds of dried apricots, granulated sugar. Soak the dried apricots overnight, then put them through a food chopper. Also put the pared pineapples through the food chopper. Measure the mixture and to ten cups of it add seven cups of sugar. Boil this combination of chopped fruit and sugar for 20 minutes and turn it into hot, sterilized jelly glasses. When cold, cover with melted paraffine wax. Mrs. B. K."

"Canning Okra by the Open-Kettle Method: Prepare the okra to cook for canning and put it in an enamelware or porcelain-lined preserving kettle; pour over it one-half cup of vinegar and enough boiling water to cover; add two tablespoons of salt and cook for 15 minutes. Then pack it into hot, sterilized glass jars, adjust new rubber and glass top, and completely seal at once. (Green Beans will keep excellently if canned in exactly the same way.) Here is another good okra recipe:
"Okra-Tomato Mixture Canned by Open-Kettle Method: Combine one gallon of very ripe tomatoes with one gallon of okra (both vegetables prepared for cooking) and put the mixture into your preserving ket-

"Pumpkin-Chip Preserve: Peel and halve several small ripe pumpkins, remove seeds and cut the remainder into thick chips. Weigh, and for each pound of pumpkin allow two cups of granulated sugar and one-half cup of lemon juice. Place the chips in a deep earthen dish in layers with sugar between. Pour the lemon juice over all. Let stand a full day, then turn the mixture into a preserving kettle and let boil till tender with a "flood" water and lemon rind added to it (allow about one cupful of cold water for every three pounds of pumpkin, also one tablespoon of bruised ginger root tied in muslin, and three lemon peels shredded). Turn the tender, cooked pumpkin into a stone jar and set away for one week in a cool place, covered. Then pour off the sirup from the chips and boil it down, till thick. Put the chips in glass jars and pour the thick sirup over them. Completely seal. Mrs. H."

THE GREAT TRIUMPH

I fancy when this life is done
And all the tales are told,
And all the battles fought and won
And all the young are old,
That we shall see in clear light
Just what is wrong and what is right.

The shams will little rule us then
And pride not toss her head
To utter scornful things of men
Who different pathways tread.
When what the soul is we can see,

A friendlier people we shall be.

If unrepented sins remain
We'll mourn them as before,
But God shall wipe away the stain
From those who sin no more.
The proudest then may cease to sneer
At what men counted failure here.

I fancy rich and poor will find,
Perhaps to their surprise,
That being true and being kind
Is more than being wise;
That what on earth men counted small,
Was the great triumph after all.

FOCUS

I like to play with one of my cameras. They so often show me what my eye has failed to see.

Another thing—I note that my lens must be accurately focused or else my picture loses its sharpness and that which I wanted most is lost.

We are cameras. Our work, our ideals, our plans are what we focus toward. If we do this incorrectly, or carelessly, we cannot expect anything but unsatisfactory results, with interest fading day by day from our minds.

With one of my cameras, you must focus for the one big thing, leaving the rest to take care of itself as background. And that is like life, too. Do not attempt too many things at once—just one. And do that one thing well—better than it has ever been done before.

Learn to concentrate. Focus your mind and heart upon the big thing that you feel you are best adapted to carry through to its greatest result.

Focus until the image of your greatest desire stands clearly impressed upon your mind. Then click the shutter!

Our greatest and happiest successes are those upon which we have bent every effort we own.

This world is filled with people whose aims are all out of focus. And try as they may, they will never meet with anything but failure, until they change the position of their lens—their vision—and actually see what they want.

It is not discouraging to work long and late when you know what you want and are determined to get it.

So focus aright in the first place.

CIRCUS WILL PLAY IN XENIA AUG. 21

Lovers of out-of-the-ordinary amusement will be interested in the announcement that "Golden Bros." Big Four Ring Trained Wild Animal Circus will be seen in Xenia after noon and evening of Tuesday, August 21, presenting a large program of original and unique and thrilling feature animal acts.

Whatever your preference, you will find plenty to interest, astonish and edify you. There are the thrilling and phenomenal exhibition by fierce and wild beasts of all sorts, lions, tigers, bears, pumas and animals from every corner of the earth. In fact, so numerous and varied are the novelties offered in the four steel cages, and the four rings and upon the hippodrome track by this show that lack of space will not permit each to be mentioned.

The quantity and quality of the features are such as to really stagger comprehension, it matters not how big the "Golden Bros." Big Four Ring Trained Wild Animal Circus may have been in the years gone by, this season they completely overwhelm all past efforts.

MAN 82 RIDES IN AIRPLANE FOR TRIP

William A. Harris, a veteran of the Civil War took a flight in the air for 10 minutes Sunday afternoon August 5 at Johnson's flying park, Dayton.

Although Mr. Harris's advanced age of 82, he seemed more than willing to experience his first trip in an airplane. He says the ride was great and was ready to go again as soon as he could reach the flying field.

Mr. Harris passed the anniversary of his 82 year May 17, being born and reared at Paintersville. He was a prominent farmer having lived on his farm south of Jamestown for the last 55 years, leaving the farm last summer for retirement on the account of ill health. Mr. Harris' health is a great deal better now and he is residing at his new home on Dayton Ave., Xenia.

RECOGNITION ASSURED.

Washington, Aug. 14.—American recognition of the Obregon government of Mexico is assured. It was learned officially at the White House today. A treaty of commerce and amity covering all points of dispute between the two nations is in existence and ready to be signed. Promulgation of the treaty will be followed by formal recognition of the Mexican government.

Stop that Eczema!

AMAZING results have been produced by S. S. S. in cases of eczema, pimples, blackheads and other skin eruptions. If you have been troubled with eczema, and you have used skin applications without number, make a test yourself, on yourself with a bottle of S. S. S., one of the most powerful blood cleansers known. S. S. S. makes the blood rich and pure, and when your blood is freed of impurities your stubborn eczema, rash, tetter, skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, blotches and acne are bound to disappear. There are no unproven theories about S. S. S.; the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

WANTS CORRECTION

Sport Editor—I have been reading the Gazette and see that the Xenia Reserves claim to have defeated the Waynesville team 15 to 5. This is not correct as we have only played them one game so far this year and we won 7 to 5. So please correct this statement in your paper.

RESERVES TO HAVE NEW PITCHER HERE FOR BARNEY GAME

The Xenia Reserves, after being rained out last Sunday, will play the fast Barney C. C. baseball nine of Dayton at Reserve Park, Cincinnati Avenue, Sunday afternoon.

The Barney C. C. team has been going good but Sunday they lost a hard fought game to the Needmore Cubs by a 4 to 2 count. The Barney bunch has been together for the past four seasons.

Exlinger will be on the rubber for the Dayton bunch. He has a fast breaking curve ball according to advance dope and if this is true should give the clouting Reserve team a merry time of it. Eddie Weaver who pitched for the Church of Resurrection in the Catholic League at Dayton will oppose him on the mound. While pitching for that team Weaver won 15 games and dropped one and had it not been for the ragged support of his mates that day he probably would have turned in another win. Weaver has lots of stuff including a knuckle ball better known as a floater. If he is right Sunday and is given good support by the Reserves he will be mighty hard to beat.

The Reserves, after dropping a hard fought game to the fast Waynesville nine two weeks ago are now out for revenge and intend handing the Gem City gang a neat lacing. Manager Chambliss announces that Cipbers, pitcher, has resigned and will finish the season with Harshmanville.

The Reserves will have the same lineup as usual with one new player added. The newcomer is Crane of Waynesville who played bang up ball for Waynesville this season. Just where Crane will play is not known. DeAtley will play at first, Gene Leahey at second, Milburn at short, and Red Randall will hold down the hot corner with M. Leahey in left. Ary center and O'Hara in right. 'Hea' Wilson will do the catching. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock with Rachford in charge.

New Liquid Puts 7-Day Curl In Straight Hair

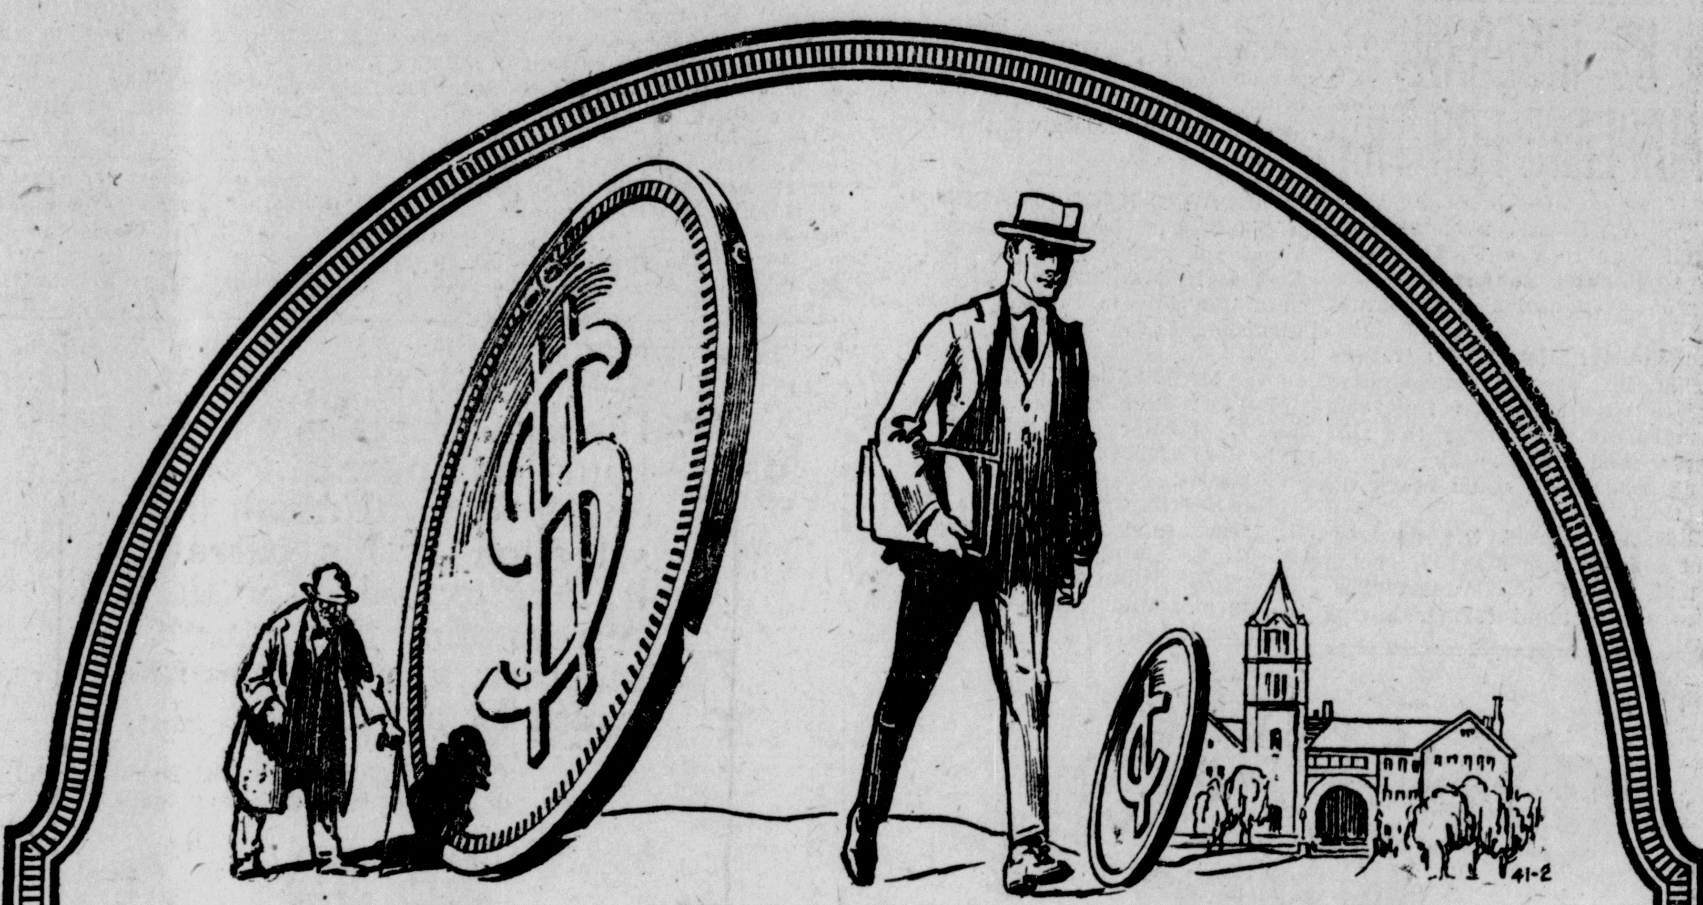

Takes Only 15 Minutes—No Fuss—No Bother

WOMEN everywhere are talking about Domino Curlette—the wonderful new liquid which in 15 minutes makes straight hair gloriously curly and wavy, and keeps it so for a week or more.

Its almost miraculous, the way it works. You just apply a few drops to the hair. Then use your favorite irons to shape and place the curls the way you like best. Or if you wish and have the time to spare you can use ordinary kid or silk curlers. In either case you will be just delighted with the beautiful wavy hair you will have acquired. Domino Curlette costs only a small amount for a bottle lasting a long time. Keep your hair full of life and fluff, as well as beautifully wavy. Get Domino Curlette today. Dollars for Charity—Pennies for Education

The two things most worthy of aid in our Country are charity and education. Everyone understands the importance of our charities and the worthy poor or unfortunate are sure to be cared for.

As to education; the grade schools are supported by local taxes and the state universities by public funds, while the hundreds of Christian colleges, the bulwark of higher education, must depend upon gifts and endowment funds provided by the comparatively few people who really appreciate the world's need of men and women with scholarly minds and strong characters.

On the other hand, charity has been widely advertised and is now more generously supported than our colleges and universities. For example, Cleveland, just one of many Ohio cities, through its Community Fund, raises annually $4,000,000 for charitable purposes. In terms of university endowment this sum represents the annual income from $80,000,000 or several times the existing endowments of all universities and colleges in Ohio.

Save at the Spigot and Waste at the Bung-hole. Economically, this system is wrong. It's a case of "Saving at the Spigot and Wasting at the Bung-hole." Every dollar invested in a Christian college like Ohio Wesleyan will save five dollars now necessary for charity. It is a dollar invested for truth, for human progress, for world betterment, for Christian education, the destroyer of superstition and ignorance which underlie most of our poverty and misfortune.

Would You Invest in a Bankrupt or a Going Concern?

The man who gives exclusively to charity is spending his money for upkeep and repairs. His investment is made for humanity in the hands of a receiver and helps keep a bankrupt concern going.

He who gives financial assistance to Ohio Wesleyan is investing in new construction—in men and women of tomorrow. His money goes to the building of "character" so essential to sound business, good government, and right civic leadership.

We would like to explain to you personally how you can perpetuate your name and that of your family by investing your dollars in Wesleyan's deeds:—How you can own a part of Ohio Wesleyan by subscribing to the $8,000,000 Development Program, covering necessary instruction endowment and new buildings.

Frankly, Ohio Wesleyan must get a substantial part of this amount from men and women like yourself, who see in Christian Education a great and precious thing—a chance to render the highest service to the world

wood pulp and ground wood, used in the manufacture of paper.

M. T. Hartley, General Manager of the Seng Paper Company, said that many local mills would be affected seriously by such an order, although quantities of Swedish pulp now are being received.

Information received by paper makers is that a survey of the forest situation in Canada now is being made and that the Canada government is determined to check exports to this country. Reciprocal tariff arrangements would probably succeed in delaying, if not preventing any such order however, Hartley said.

POVERTY OR RICHES

Which would you choose? But wait—Poverty, with a clear conscience, a free mind, a fairly happy heart, a constant hope of better times; Or riches, with a sickening fear of you know not what, a gnawing suspicion, a growing disgust. Read the new novel.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING

The proof of the pudding, they say, is in the eating. The test of a life is in the living—but many a married life could be made happier and safer if some of the tests were applied before matrimony. Instead of waiting for the acid test of experience to enlighten youth. The new novel tells it all.

FEW VOTES CAST AT PRIMARY HERE FOR COMMISSIONERS

Xenia citizens, Tuesday, at the rate of about $5 or more a vote, cast only about 200 votes in the primary to select candidate for the City Commission.

Through a clause in the city charter, the primary had little bearing on candidates as all were nominated and eligible to go the regular election ticket in November regardless of the votes they received.

This situation is believed to have contributed to the general lack of interest in the primary, and one of the smallest votes in the history of the city was cast. From 15 to 30 ballots were marked in each voting precinct.

S. M. McKay, incumbent and short term candidate, polled the highest vote in the primary, a total of 187. As he was without opposition the vote he received is indicative of the total cast, with the exception that he was not voted for in one precinct. The total vote will not exceed 200 votes.

Harry Sparks, new candidate, who will be a candidate at the regular term in opposition to Harry Fisher and Dr. C. G. McPherson, incumbents, for the long term, stood next highest on the list in the "straw vote" with Dr. McPherson third and Fisher fourth. The vote:

S. M. McKay	187
Harry Sparks	184
Dr. McPherson	172
Harry Fisher	160

Although figures were not available Wednesday, pending receipt of all bills, the cost of the primary will probably exceed $1,000 according to Carl Ervin, clerk of the election board.

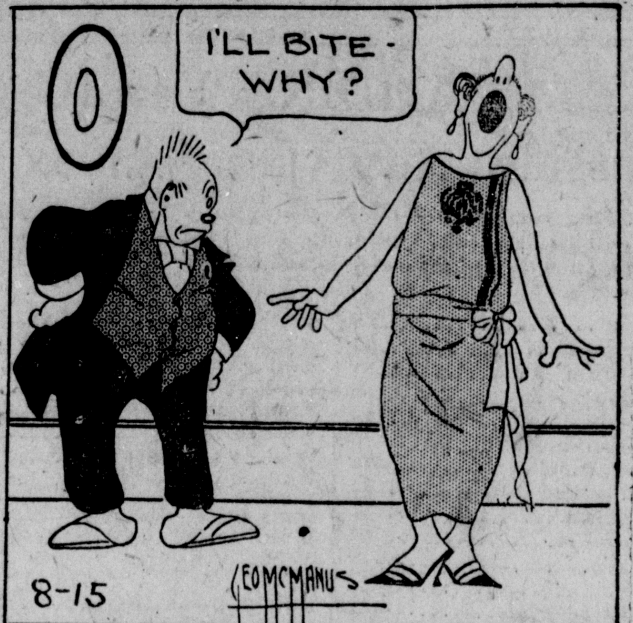

The primary was held through a clause in the city charter which permits twice as many candidates as there are vacancies to go on the regular election ticket, the highest candidates in the primary getting this honor. If there is a big field, low candidates are thus eliminated but in Tuesday's primary, the results had no effect on the status of the candidates before the regular election. Independents are not eligible for candidacy unless they come before the primary.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

OHIO STANDS HIGH IN RURAL LEADERS ANALYSIS OF FARM WHO'S WHO SHOWS

Ohio is second in number of rural leaders sufficiently prominent to be listed in "Rus," the Who's Who of the American Countryside. Of a total of 4,342 leaders so listed, 395 were Ohio born. Not all of these leaders are still in the state. Listed by the number now resident, Ohio stands seventh in the Union, with 140 names.

This argues that the state is supplying leaders of the agricultural movement to all of the nation, comments C. E. Lively, professor of rural problems at the Ohio State University, who made the compilation from "Rus" on a state basis, so as to find whether the agricultural rank of a state in 1880 has since had any bearing on its contribution to national rural leadership.

The study is not yet completed. The count shows, however, that the greatest number of rural leaders, so far, have been supplied by the older states with a permanent agriculture. New York leads, with 495 of those listed in "Rus" having been born there. Then comes Ohio, with 306; Illinois with 297; Pennsylvania with 251; Iowa with 244; Wisconsin, 210; Michigan, 200.

Listing the leaders by their present location, irrespective of their place of birth, the greatest number are found in Washington, D. C., at the offices of the federal department of agriculture. New York follows with 324, just two less than are in the District of Columbia. Pennsylvania is third with 179, and then come Illinois, 175; California, 172; and Minnesota, 171.

L. H. Bailey, compiler of "Rus" is a former dean of the New York State College of Agriculture.

WHEAT CAN BE FED OWING TO LOW PRICE OF WHEAT

Quite a few farmers are holding their crop for feeding purposes. With corn at present prices this is a wise move. For growing stock wheat is much superior to corn as a feed. It can be used for fattening, mixed with corn.

The analysis of wheat shows that it is higher than corn in protein, about the same in starch and somewhat lower in fat. For growing pigs crushed wheat and oats mixed is an excellent feed. For fattening hogs crushed wheat with corn may be used. For dairy cows it can be ground with the other grains.

Being a great egg producer, wheat this year should find a place in the scratch of all laying hens and should be ground in the mash for young and old chickens.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE AS STEAMER CATCHES FIRE

Montreal, Que., Aug. 14.—Eighty

members of the Massachusetts delegation of the Knights of Columbus had a narrow escape today when the steamer Montreal caught fire.

The Montreal was ignited by the steamer Rita B., which was destroyed. As the Rita B. drifted near, the Montreal caught fire but firemen were able to save her. There was no panic. Nearly 100 Toronto excursionists also were on the Montreal.

The members of the Rita B. crew were reported missing.

MAKES THE DEAF HEAR

Here's good news for all who suffer from deafness. The Dictograph Products Corporation announces the perfection of a remarkable device which has enabled thousands of deaf persons to hear as well as ever. The makers of this wonderful device say it is too much to expect you to believe this, so they are going to give you a chance to try it at home. They offer to send it by prepaid parcel post on a ten-day free trial. They do not send it C. O. D.—they require no deposit—there is no obligation. They send it entirely at their own expense and risk. They are making this extraordinary offer well knowing that the magic of this little instrument will so amaze and delight the user that the chances of its being returned are very slight. Thousands have already accepted this offer and report most gratifying results. There's no longer any need that you should endure the mental and physical strain which comes from a constant effort to hear. Now you can mingle with your friends without that feeling of being deaf from which all deaf persons suffer. Now you can take your place in the social and business world to which your talents entitle you and from which your affliction has, in a measure, excluded you. Just send your name and address to the Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 1332, 220 W. 42nd St. New York, for descriptive literature and request blank.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

THE LAST MONTHS OF MY GIRLHOOD.

Chapter 1.

I was but 18 years old when I fell in love. "Head over heels," my grandmother declared, just because I wouldn't say I'd wait until I was 20 to marry. The family all objected. Families always do, I have found out, for one reason or another. But Paul was so handsome, just my ideal of what a man should be. Tall, broad-shouldered, narrow hips, with a great shock of brown hair, and good features. I thought him perfect, although the family said he was selfish, that he always thought of himself first.

"It's big I, little you, with him, Sis," my brother Tom told me. But I never paid any attention to Tom. He was only two years older than I was and had always tried to boss me. What if Paul didn't want to do things that didn't interest him? Surely he should not be blamed for that. And what if he did like to choose the places we visited—I never objected, why should the family? As long as I was with him I didn't care where we went, what we did—then.

Once Tom asked: "Has Paul ever told you he thought you pretty, Sis? I'll bet he hasn't. He's too busy thinking of himself." "I can look in the mirror," I replied snappily. "I don't need to be told what I already know."

"Modest little violet," Tom teased, tweaking my ear.

At this moment I became human. I went to the mirror and looked at myself, Ruby Atkins, in the full light.

from the window. This, with Tom looking on, took courage. There gazed back at me gray eyes, large and widely opened, brows that arched prettily, an oval face with a red mouth that held little of determination, a pouting mouth, dimpled at the corners, that was thick and black in the shadows, almost red where the light rested. I was tall and slender, almost as tall as brother Tom. I was glad of this for Paul was six feet one and a half.

"Satisfied?" Tom asked with a malicious grin as I turned from the mirror.

"Perfectly," I rejoined.

"And you never want Paul to flatter you, tell you he thinks you are the loveliest creature in the world, and—"

"Paul doesn't talk much. I hate it!" I interrupted.

"You're different from the girls I run around with if you don't like flattery. They fairly eat it up. But, Sis, be careful you keep your Paul on his pedestal. It will be a sorry day for you when you let him down."

I had been cross with Tom for talking so of Paul, yet what he said ruffled a bit. Did all young men flatter the girls they went with? Some had talked nonsense to me, boring me. But it would be nice to have Paul say flattering things.

That very night when he called I asked:

"Do I look nice, Paul?" I knew I did. My dress was new and becoming.

he saw no need of remarking on it. He wasn't silly like brother Tom and his crowd. He was too clever to be silly.

Paul Norwood was just 25, seven years older than I was. Naturally, he wouldn't do and say the foolish things Tom did, when Tom was only 20. Anyway I thought him immensely superior. He had no family, was all alone in the world except a sister, unmarried and much older than he, who lived in the far west. It was no wonder he didn't understand some of the things my family said and did. There were such a lot of us. Father said we had numbers instead of money. Not that we were really poor, but we had to plan to make ends meet. I had been told that when I married my husband could expect no help from father. He would support us as long as we remained at home, but not if we left him.

But this didn't worry me. Paul had some money left him by his father, who had died while he was in college.

Kitchen Slavery Has Been Abolished

By The Introduction of the Ready Canned

"E" BRAND PRODUCTS

Because grandmother was unable to have wholesome, delicious canned goods unless the work was done in her own kitchen is no reason why you should toil in a hot kitchen doing just as she did. Grandmother left her spinning wheel and bought factory made materials just as soon as the art was perfected.

IF GRANDMOTHER WERE LIVING NOW

she would point out the folly of wearing out your health and strength in home canning after factory canning has been developed to the perfection found in "E" BRAND PRODUCTS. Grandmother would assure herself of three things: First, that the canning was done under conditions as clean and sanitary as her own kitchen; Second, that all the materials used were of finest quality; Third, food expert that she was, she would taste it critically to find out whether or not it had that rich, indescribable, joy-giving tang that is called the HOME COOKED FLAVOR. Then—

SHE WOULD ORDER WHOLE CASES OF "E" BRAND PRODUCTS

and knowing that the sustenance and health of her family had been looked after as expertly as her own hands could do it she would devote her time to other pressing modern needs. BE AT LEAST AS PROGRESSIVE AS YOUR OWN GRANDMOTHER, and accept new ways as readily as she did.

COUNT UP THE COST

of the fresh products, sugar and other ingredients, cost of fuel, cans and accessories and you will see the economy of buying "E" BRAND ready canned goods.

REACTION SEEN TO BRITISH NOTE ON REPARATIONS

Relations With France
Hourly

Belief Prevails That Brit-
tain Will Be Compelled
to Act Separately

London, Aug. 15.—As a result of reports from Paris showing an alarming reaction to the British reparations note, Anglo-French relations took a serious turn, culminating in Premier Baldwin holding an hour's anxious conference with King George
at the palace.

Whitehall officials, from their information, hope that Premier Poin-care's reply, which, owing to the gravity of the crisis, will be forwarded sooner than was expected, will be couched in terms which will possibly avert a breaking up of the entente.

Nevertheless, the general opinion is that Britain will finally be compelled to take separate action with Germany and that Premier Baldwin may have to call a special session of parliament for the purpose of determining the future policy.

There is no blinking the fact that relations between the two governments is becoming more strained hourly, and in view of threatened revolution in Germany it is likely that Britain will speedily call a world conference to decide Germany's capacity to pay reparations as well as all matters affecting world trade and the world's peace.

The foreign office quickly spiked
Lord Birkenhead's charge that Britain had never before questioned the legality of the French occupation of the Ruhr by quoting from the French
"Yellow Book." The publication included an extract from messages from the French ambassador in London to Paris, quoting a conversation with Lord Curzon on June 11. In one wire the ambassador said: "Lord Curzon told me that the British government considers our action in the Ruhr contrary to the treaty of Versailles."

The foreign office also states that the coalition government raised the question of the legality of the proposed Ruhr occupation by France in the summer of 1922, but refrained from pressing the question, as there was no wish to embarrass the allies.
At that time, however, France was given a distinct warning that the invasion of the Ruhr by them alone
would be illegal.

DISTRICT MASONIC PICNIC LABOR DAY TO ATTRACT CROWDS

The annual picnic of Xenia Lodge
No. 49, F. and A. M., which was to have been held August 15, at Kil Kare Park, has been postponed, and in its place, there will be a District Masonic picnic held Labor Day, Monday, September 3, on Bryan Farm Yellow Springs, it is announced.

The picnic will be one of the largest affairs in the fraternal order, in this part of the state, according to Masons. The district is composed of Greene, Clinton, Fayette, and Pickaway Counties. The picnic will be an all-day basket gathering, music, dancing, bathing,
games and other sports to amuse
the crowd will be offered. The Masonic order has leased the park grounds for the day, exclusively.
Between 2000 and 3000 people are expected to attend.

Grand W. M. of Ohio, H. M.
Johnson, with Mrs. Johnson, and other notables in the order will be present at the picnic. District Lecturer, M. J. Spinks of Wilmington, is chairman of the affair, and Jacob Kany, of Xenia Lodge, this city, is chairman of the refreshment committee.

FOUL BROOD HITS BEES OF STATE

Columbus, Aug. 15.—The brood disease situation among bees throughout the state is so serious that the agricultural department has thought it necessary to call a meeting of Ohio beekeepers. The meeting is to be held in the Horticultural building at 10 o'clock on Thursday, Aug. 30, during the state fair. The purpose of the conference, says State Apiarist Charles Reese, is to consider steps to be taken for the eradication of American foul brood, a disease which is completely ravaging almost every county, and is at its worst in apiaries surrounding our larger cities.

DEVALERA ARRESTED BY FREE STATERS

Dublin, Aug. 15.—Eamonn De Valera, leader of the Irish Republicans and the most aggressive political foe of the Free State was arrested in County Clare today while making a campaign speech.

De Valera had not been speaking more than two minutes when the cry went up:

The Free State troops rushed up firing a volley into the air over the platform. Then they closed in and seized De Valera,
who made no protest.

CAUSE OF MYSTERY FIRES UNKNOWN AS CHEMISTS WORK

While chemists are continuing their investigation of the source of the mysterious fires Monday at the D. A.
DeWine residence, near Old Town,
Mr. and Mrs. DeWine are leaving the house empty, spending Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John De-Wine, in this city.

Clyde F. Adams and Austin G. Edeson, Antioch College chemists, who are attempting to solve the mystery,
had nothing to report Wednesday although still continuing their investigations. They are testing articles of wearing apparel and cloth that burned as well as other cloth in the house that did not catch fire, in an attempt to find the presence of some combustible chemical that may have caused the conflagrations.

As a sequel to a mysterious fire
two weeks ago, when wearing apparel
suddenly consumed without apparent cause, there were twelve separate blazes at the DeWine home Monday
starting at ten o'clock in the morning
and ending at three in the afternoon.
These fires broke off in wardrobes,
cupboards and closets and in dresser drawers, on curtains that were taken down and laid on a table and in a mattress that had been stripped of bed covers.

There were no more fires Tuesday,
nor Wednesday morning, an investigation made by Mr. DeWine Wednesday showed. A theory advanced Tuesday that bleaching powder used in laundry had caused the conflagration
was exploded by an investigation which showed the woman who washes the DeWine clothes uses nothing but a washing live and a naphtha soap. Lye is a potash and would not cause the mysterious fires, it is said.

Dr. A. M. Patterson, who advanced this theory, said Wednesday he realized
the bleaching powder theory was impracticable after learning fuller in-tells of the fires. For bleaching powder to cause a conflagration it would have to be left in the clothes in quantities and then left in a tightly closed-up place for some time. The fact that some of the inflammable material was in the open air, explodes
this possibility, he said.

W. H. Donges, pharmacist, proprietor of Donges drug store, this city, and U. E. Clark, his assistant, are attempting a theory that the fires were caused by an invasion of the house by marsh gas from the pond near the dwelling. The pond is used to develop water power to operate the DeWine Milling Company plant across the road, but had been allowed to dry up recently.

The local men suggest that gas was formed in the peat and mud in the bottom of the pond, due to the hot weather and proper contributing atmospheric conditions. This gas is the same that is visible above marshes as a phosphorescent at nights, when it ignites due to contact with the oxygen in the air, causing a glow above marshes. It is combustible when it comes in contact with the air. It is possible, it is said, that the marsh gas filled cupboards and dresser drawers in the house and steeped linens and clothes, so that when properly exposed to the air they burst into flame.

The pond was flooded Tuesday, before this theory was produced, which eliminates the possibility of a test.
Otherwise, it is said, the chemists
may have been able to acquire some of this gas for a combustion test.
All of the fires have broken out in cotton goods, a further point in favor of the marsh gas theory, it is said.
The only woolen article that burned caught fire from contact with a burning cotton piece. The mattress was entirely cotton it is said. Mr. and Mrs. DeWine will continue to leave the house unoccupied until the mystery is explained.

MOVES AGAINST MASKED RAIDERS

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 15.—Martial law descended upon Tulsa by decree of governor J. C. Walton, as the result of recent cases of mob violence.
There have been numerous cases of whippings recently. Three companies of infantry, equipped with automatic rifles, will enforce the military rule
under command of Adjutant General S. H. Markham.

TO HAVE EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Lorain, O., Aug. 15.—The National tube company announced it will inaugurate the eight-hour day in its mills here Aug. 16. Under the new working schedule, the tube company estimates that it will be necessary to employ 700 additional men.

OVER 100 ENTOMBED MINERS PERISH

IS HE STILL POWER IN GERMANY?

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Int.

Here is the most recent and an unusually intimate photograph of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, who was one of the most powerful figures in Germany in the World War, as commander of all her armies.

Whether he retains all that power now is not known outside of Germany, but it is conceded he is much of a popular public figure.

TREATY BETWEEN U. S. AND MEXICO CONCLUDED: RE COGNITION NEAR

Washington, Aug. 15.—A treaty of amity and commerce has been concluded between the United States and Mexico as the final step in the international negotiations, leading to the political recognition of the Obregon government, it was learned here today.

Official announcement of recognition will be made by the State Department as soon as the treaty has been approved by Secretary Hughes.

This may take place before the end of the week.

The negotiations which were carried on in Mexico City between Charles Beecher Warren and John Barton Payne, the American commissioners and representatives of the Mexican government, were entirely successful, according to administration officials and the treaty which has been drafted, has settled all outstanding differences between the two governments.

CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK WILL TAKE UP STRIKE

Miners and Operators Gather at Call of Government.

New York, Aug. 15.—Representatives of miners and operators of the anthracite coal fields were gathering
here today for a conference with the United States Coal Commission, which is seeking to avoid a strike
now threatened for September 1.
John L. Lewis, international union president, heads the miner delegation. Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators committee,
will be spokesman for his group.
John Hayes Hammond, chairman of the commission, will preside over the conference.

The position of the three factions
as outlined in pre-conference statements showed:
Lewis: While accepting the government's invitation to confer the miners have in no way backed down
from their demand that the operators grant full recognition of the union.

Warriner: The operators, now as always, are ready to arbitrate all differences.
Hammond: On September 1, the coal bins in many thousand homes will be absolutely bare. It is the duty of the coal commission to report the facts, to place responsibility
where it belongs, recommending a course of action in the interest of those without household fuel.

The conference was expected to last two or three days.
The main controversy will revolve, it was predicted, around the check-off system—the union's method of collecting dues, assessments and penalties. This system is in operation in the soft coal fields but has been turned down by the anthracite operators.

Cleveland, Aug. 15.—An attempt to develop a new gas field, the East Ohio Gas company proposes to go down to the Clinton sand, in Guernsey county, which geologists estimate
will be struck at about 5,300 feet.
This is 1,000 feet deeper than other Ohio wells.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 15.—Gasoline dealers here are waging a price cutting war. One dealer is selling "gas" for 19 cents a gallon. Others are charging 20 cents, while a few are sticking to 22 cents.

Draft Evader Bergdoll Kidnaps Wounded Man

Heidelberg, Germany, August 15.— Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious American draft evader, has kidnaped Carl Sperber, the wounded man who tried to spirit him into France. Berg-doll himself drove the car which came to the hospital to get Sperber. Three policemen from Eberbach accompanied Bergdoll. All refused to say where Sperber had been taken.

Three other prisoners also have been taken away, including Leutenant C. Hooven Griffith, formerly of the
A. E. F., from Hamilton, Ohio, and the supposed American citizen, Victor Nielsen from Chicago.

Bergdoll says they have been taken to remote parts of Germany but he refuses to divulge their whereabouts.
The small police force at Eberbach, feared the French acting for the Americans, might rescue the prisoners.

Instead of facing trial for the murder of Carl Schmidt three days ago, Bergdoll has become a great hero to the German population. The public prosecutor says there is no case against him, since the man he killed
was a Swiss-American trying to kidnap an American slacker. When Mrs.
Bergdoll was asked if Grover had kidnaped Sperber she replied:

"Yes, he did good work that time!"
When Bergdoll was asked where he had taken the prisoner he replied:
"I won't tell a damned American!"
The story of Sperber's kidnaping is pathetic. He had been confined in a German Hospital behind iron bars.
When he regained consciousness his first words were: "Where are the three others?"

This gave the police their first intimation that Sperber took part in the kidnaping of the slacker. Sperber, whose papers show that he was a permanent resident of Paris said
to his nurse:

"I don't regret what I did. I would do it again if I had a chance and there are thousands of others who would do the same."

When Bergdoll, driving the car, arrived at the hospital, Sperber thought it contained comrades from the Paris Branch of the American Legion who had promised to come to his rescue if he were captured. He left the hospital willingly.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The state department was formally appealed to today by James A. MacFarland, national commander of the Disabled
American Veterans to bring to justice Grover Cleveland Bergdoll the "super-slacker" who has "so brazenly" taunted the authority of the U. S.

In his plea to Secretary Hughes, MacFarland also requested that the department "take every precaution for the safety of our fellow member, C.
Hooven Griffith, who is under arrest at Eberbach, Germany, for an alleged part in an attempt to kidnap Bergdoll.

Eberbach, Germany, Aug. 15.—The Baden government today asked Berlin to protest to Washington against the attempted kidnaping of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, rich American draft dodger.

While there is high feeling here,
there have been no outbreaks. False stories were circulated in the United States that a mob tried to storm the place. No such scene took place. The prisoners are being guarded safely.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Former Representative C. Bascom Slemph of Virginia, has been tendered the position of secretary to President Coolidge.
The appointment of Mr. Slemph came as a surprise inasmuch as his name had not been mentioned in connection with the secretaryship.

Mr. Slemph was born at Turkey
Cove, Lee County, Virginia, in 1870.
He was graduated from the Virginia
Military Institute in 1891; studied law
at the University of Virginia; taught mathematics at the Virginia Military Institute and later practiced law at Big Stone Gap, Va., his present home.

Undercurrent of political activity was noted today in the ranks of the Republican party following the appointment of Slemph.

Republican leaders think Coolidge ultimately will be a candidate for a second term and look upon Slemph's appointment as a sagacious political move to consolidate Coolidge support along the Atlantic seaboard.
With Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, leading a Coolidge boom in New England, the Slemph appointment is expected to win
strong support for the President
among southern factions of the party.

New Lexington, O., Aug. 15.—A special grand jury will investigate the first degree murder charge against Thomas Smith of San Toy, near here, for the alleged killing of Mrs. James Brannagan. Brannagan told Sheriff Minshall that Smith fired a shotgun
at him but missed, the charge killing Mrs. Brannagan.

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—Excessive prices on gasoline—if the present prices are excessive—are a matter for national action it was decided at a conference called by Governor A.
V. Donahey in the executive offices yesterday. In attendance he had Fred H. Caloy, of Cleveland, Harold
H. Gorman, of Cleveland, and Charles C. Jones, of Columbus, respectively President, General Counsel and Secretary of the Ohio State Automobile Association.

They discussed all phases of the situation, but concluded there is little that can be done by the state.
They decided that the Attorney General's department should attempt to learn if there is any violation of the Valentine anti-trust law and a letter to this effect was sent by the Governor.

Although the automobile represents a vast industry in the state,
the reduction which have been given to other states, they are unwilling that Ohio shall attempt to go into the gasoline distribution business.

It was pointed out that not only is there a chance of heavy losses, but also there is opposition to state business as a matter of principle. Besides, Mr. Gorman said, the 500,000 gallons which the state of South Dakota bought in the open market would supply Ohio five hours. Here
the consumption is 500,000,000 gallons
a year.

The conferees believed that Ohio
should have the advantage of low gasoline prices if the reduced prices are sound economically, but they are unwilling to see independent gasoline producers crushed by the power of huge corporations like the Standard Oil Company.

The conferees are not too certain that the spectacular beginning of the price-cutting movement in South Dakota was not a deliberate design introduced into the situation by the oil monopolistic interests.

In automobile use it was admitted
the price of gasoline is only an incident the importance of which may readily be over-estimated.

With this background, the request to the National Government may be interpreted as a request for information. Governor Donahey said if the limit of his constitutional powers
he is anxious that it be taken and he may confer with Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, and Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, states with a heavy consumption, like Ohio, if any practical plan can be devised. The automobile organizations declined to be interested in any private distribution plan.

His telegram to President Coolidge is:
"Permit me to call to your attention that gasoline is retailing in Ohio at 22 cents a gallon. Newspaper reports inform us that the price in 10 or more states, including Indiana, our neighbor to the West, has been cut to 16 cents. We are all wondering why this discrimination between adjoining states. The citizens of Ohio desire gasoline at a fair price. All states are entitled to it.

"We have heard much about an over-supply of gasoline and about excessive reductions in some of the states appear to prove these reports.
It has become a national problem.
May I urge that an immediate searching investigation by the Federal Government to ascertain the facts so that justice may be done to all concerned be conducted."

MAYOR TO FIGHT CHARGES

Defiance, O., Aug. 15.—Mayor John
C. Marlett is prepared to fight ouster charges filed against him in probate court here. The petition, alleging misfeasance in office, and signed by four councilmen, asks his removal.
The councilmen charge improper handling of fines and costs in liquor law violation cases.

Disaster Which Takes
Heavy Death Toll

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 15.—
One hundred and two dead is the total today of the terrific explosion in Frontier mine No. 1,
of the Kemmerer Coal Company which entombed 137 men and shook the countryside yesterday morning, shortly after the miners had entered the workings.
Ninety bodies had been removed early this morning and 11 more dead were known to be in the mine.

Thirty-five men were rescued alive but one died as he was being taken out. Black-damp gas, the coal miners' menace, was blamed for the blast that trapped
them in the slopes.

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 15.—Thirty-seven miners have come back from the grave. It is feared all of their comrades, 104, are dead. Six bodies have been recovered. The men were entombed by an explosion in the Frontier mine of the Kemmerer Coal company.

The survivors were brought to the surface by attaches of the United States bureau of mines. At that time the rescuers feared no more men would be found alive.

Two rescue cars were rushed to Kemmerer, the first being an educational car of the Colorado-New Mexico district. Four hours after the explosion the trained government men organized miners who rushed to the scene. A milling mass of miners became an effective working force.

Scores of hysterical women and children stood about the mine entrances all day. Touching scenes followed the rescue of the 37 men. They were uninjured. Some of them insisted on joining the rescuers searching for their lost comrades.

The first body recovered was that of George Wormer, a pump tender.
Five other bodies were recovered a little later. All had been caught in the fire that followed the explosion.
The explosion was 1,700 feet below
the surface. The mine is an old one.

The fire is believed to have been gotten under control. The rescue workers are now at the fifteenth level, where a mass of debris blocked entrance to the lower levels. Several hours will be required to force an opening, and not until then will the fate of the missing men be known.

State and federal officials arranged for an investigation. Formal inquests will be held by the coroner.
The rescuers worked heroically
throughout the night.

Two more trips were made into the mine after the 37 survivors had been brought out, but no sign of life was found. Fear was expressed that all were dead.

The mine rescue workers, after being below several hours, reported the explosion was evidently caused by gas and not by dust. The dead lay all along the slope, where they fell, suffocated.

Water is rising in the mine. Two pumps were disabled by the explosion. They had a capacity of 18,000 gallons per minute. The lower levels are filling rapidly, but it is believed the trapped men would not be in danger of the flood for at least 24 hours,
if alive, where they were on levels
above the floor that is flooding.

John Pavlizin, a miner, saved the lives of 26 men in the 29th entry.
He has been in three other explosions and appealed to the men to stay out of the main slope, and of 69 men, 26 obeyed and saved their lives. They returned to the entry and barricaded themselves against the deadly gas with brattice cloth, timbers and canvas. Pavlizin is the hero of the catastrophe.

The mine had more than 30 entries near the surface, but the number decreases as depth is reached. There are only a few points of exit from the 1,700 foot level.

CRIME DUE TO JEALOUSY

Toledo, Aug. 15.—Jealousy is blamed by the police for the fatal shooting of William Fritz, 27, while seated in an automobile with a female companion. Two men approached the automobile, and while one of the men trained a flashlight on the occupants
the other shot Fritz through the jugular vein. The girl, who gave her name as Marjory Stiles, was arrested and held as a witness. The assailants escaped.

To Recall the Operator

WHEN you lift the telephone receiver, a small electric light glows on the switchboard in front of the operator.

While the hook is up the light burns, press it down and the light goes out.

When you "jiggle" the receiver hook rapidly the tiny electric globe barely flickers or does not light at all.

But when you move the hook up and down s-l-o-w-l-y, the signal lamp glows and goes out at regular intervals and thus

attracts the operator's attention. Your line is only one of several she is handling and watchful as her eyes are, she cannot serve you properly unless you allow the signal lamp to function correctly.

The next time you wish to recall the operator, remember that she cannot see a glow from an unlighted lamp. Move the hook up and down s-l-o-w-l-y.

REUNION INVITATION WRITTEN IN VERSE

Mrs. Hulda Glass Hatfield, is the author of a quaint poem, issued among the members of the Glass family, and their friends, inviting them to attend the annual Glass family reunion, August 15. The poem reads:

"The Glass' will again this year,
Have their reunion at 'Old Ross High."
Where birds sing gaily in the branches over head,
'Neath a canopy of deep blue sky,
So just bring all your family,
And all your friends along,
With a basket full of good things,
And help to swell the throng.
And no difference how you're feeling;
Get on your face a smile,
For on August fifteenth, don't you know,
You'll find it worth your while?

LODGE COUNCIL MEETING ENJOYED TUESDAY EVENING.

Members of Obidient Council, Daughters of America, enjoyed a social time, at Junior Order Hall, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Nettie Fay, of Springfield, district deputy, and state vice councillor, Mrs. Carrie Faulkner, of this city, past state councillor, and Mrs. William McKinney, of Pride of Xenia Council, were visitors at the meeting.

After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed.

LARGE NUMBER OF GUESTS RECEIVED AT CARDS

One of the largest social affairs of the week, was the bridge party given by Mrs. Edwin M. Woodward, at the home of Mrs. A. G. Harrison Baker, on East Market Street, Tuesday afternoon.

Sixty guests were received by Mrs. Woodward for cards, the honor guest at the affair being Miss Katherine Masters, of Wilmington, Delaware the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward. A delicious luncheon course was served after cards.

WORK OF PAVING SPRINGFIELD PIKE BEGINS IN 2 WEEKS

Lewis and Copeland, Lima, contractors for the Springfield pike paving between Xenia and Yellow Springs, will begin operations in two weeks according to Deputy County Surveyor W. P. McKay, in charge of the office during the leave of absence of Surveyor W. J. Davis. The contracting company is now setting up machinery preparatory to beginning work. A washing machine is now being put in use. The work will start at the junction of the Fairfield pike with the Springfield pike, north of Old Town, and it is believed the road builders will work both ways from that point simultaneously.

HORSE STOLEN

George Hamilton, Cedarville, reported Tuesday that a horse owned by him had been stolen from a stable at the Green County Fairgrounds. The horse was taken between eight o'clock Monday night and 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The horse was a small bay, weighing about 800 pounds, one shoe on right front foot, a scar over the left eye and two or three on the left side, appearing as if it had been burned. The horse had short tail and main.

DAIRYMAN ACCUSED BY COMPETITOR; HELD ON BOND

Kenneth Ringer, dairman, was bound over to Probate Court under $300 bond by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court Tuesday on the charge of stealing four milk bottles preferred in an affidavit sworn out in Police Court by J. L. Hurley, dairman. Hurley alleges Ringer took four of his milk bottles from a front porch where they had been left for him.

Ringer was arraigned Tuesday and waived preliminary examination. He furnished bond.

EAST END NEWS

Little Min Cora Lewis, has returned home, after a visit of five weeks, spent in Canton, O. visiting her sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Calander.

IT STARTED SOMETHING

"I have not said anything to you, but have been saying to others and have induced many to take your medicine and be convinced. May's Wonderful Remedy is perfectly named. It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

HAS TEAR BOMB TO GUARD BANK

Guy Pillsbury, guard at the Xenia National Bank, now has a tear bomb for use in case of an attack from bank bandits.

Pillsbury occupies an armored compartment on the mezzanine floor of the bank, overlooking the lobby, where he has a clear view of all who enter the institution. He is armed with rifles, shotguns and revolvers and from his vantage point could command the situation in case of an invasion of hold-up men.

With the tear bomb, Pillsbury says he could have bandits at his mercy in a short time without firing a shot.

YELLOW SPRINGS

The members of St. Paul's Church will give their annual garden party August 29th. A chicken supper will be served. The public is invited.

SOUTHERN NEGROES COME NORTH FOR A "SQUARE DEAL."

In the wholesale migration of Negroes from the South there is being created a condition of affairs and a social and political problem that call for the exercise of the wisest statesmanship of which the people of the United States are capable.

A profoundly significant and impressive document that has just been addressed to the Legislature and people of Georgia by a group of the best colored citizens of that State—clergymen, educators, lawyers, bank presidents and business men of character and standing, many of whom are well known throughout the country at large—may be taken as representing not only the "45 per cent of the State population of Georgia," as they sign themselves, but as voicing the views of the great body of the Negroes of the South; the migrants as well as those who remain.

This letter is a deeply moving statement of the facts as the Negroes see them, expressed with a breadth of view, a courage and moderation and an earnestness of purpose that must command instant attention and the utmost sympathy. It sets forth, in the first place, what must be obvious to most observers—that the migration is no hasty impulse of a restless and unsettled people. Its authors keenly realize that "there is probably no more suitable place to be found in the whole world for colored people than our own Southland" and that there is much for them to lose in abandoning the economic, social, religious and educational institutions which they have built up in the last fifty years. The bare fact that they are leaving in such great numbers their homes and lifelong associations for new and uncertain conditions of life reveals the gravity of the conditions which the migrants are seeking to escape.

There are abundant reasons for the movement in the economic and social surroundings of the Negroes of the South. While this letter refers solely to Georgia, that State differs only in a degree from other localities which are also being decimated. Poor wages and the high cost of living, insanitary housing, the oppressive labor methods growing out of absentee landlords and the employment of overseers, totally inadequate and inequitable educational facilities, the discriminations to which Negroes are forced to submit on the railroads, inequality in the enforcement of the laws, mob violence and contract-labor laws which subject the people to restrictions hardly less onerous than in the days of legal slavery—these are all recited as sufficient reasons for driving the colored people to seek new homes and new fields of labor.

The whole truth, as these thoughtful and sincere Negroes of Georgia have had the courage to set it forth, is that a large percentage of the race have lost faith in the willingness or the intention of the whites ever to treat the colored people justly and to allow them to become a basic part of our civilization. "The cause of most of the trouble * * * lies in the fundamental error of attempting to run a democracy without all the people." It results in one-sided legislation against which the victims have no weapon of defense. These brave Georgian Negroes emphatically deny the charge, so often hurled at them, that they have ambition either for so-called social equality or for domination. They point with pride to the record of loyalty and faithfulness of their fathers through two and a half centuries of slavery to show how well they stood the test, and they declare that they only covet a fair chance to serve in the largest possible way their fellowmen.

POOR CAMOUFLAGED RUSSIA.

George Kennan, writer on Russian affairs, has given out a statement on the subject of the soviet constitution, in which he says: "On July 4, 1923, the anniversary of American independence, the executive committees of the soviet government in Russia adopted a 'constitution' which is ostensibly modeled on that of the United States. It provides for the election of two houses of parliament, the formation of a 'cabinet,' the establishment of a supreme court and the creation of a federal government that would seem on its face to be as free, liberal and modern as ours. But let no one be deceived. The Russian leopard has not changed its spots. The first essentials of republican institutions are freedom of elections, freedom of assembly and freedom of the press, and these things the new bolshevik 'constitution' does not guarantee—nor even promise. It leaves all power just where it has been for the last five years—in the hands of a small group of self-appointed bureaucrats, whom the people can neither remove nor control. There never has been a free election, a free assembly or a free press in Russia since Lenin and Trotsky dispersed the constituent assembly, usurped governmental authority and proceeded to make their positions secure by killing 1,000,000 or more of their opponents and driving the rest out of the country."

"COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE."

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

THE GREAT TRIUMPH

I fancy when this life is done
And all the tales are told,
And all the battles fought and won
And all the young are old,
That we shall see in clear light
Just what is wrong and what is right.

The shams will little rule us then
And pride not toss her head
To utter scornful things of men
Who different pathways tread.
When what the soul is we can see,

A friendlier people we shall be.

If unrepented sins remain
We'll mourn them as before,
But God shall wipe away the stain
From those who sin no more.
The proudest then may cease to sneer
At what men counted failure here.

I fancy rich and poor will find,
Perhaps to their surprise,
That being true and being kind
Is more than being wise;
That what on earth men counted small,
Was the great triumph after all.

FOCUS

I like to play with one of my cameras. They so often show me what my eye has failed to see.

Another thing—I note that my lens must be accurately focused or else my picture loses its sharpness and that which I wanted most is lost.

We are cameras. Our work, our ideals, our plans are what we focus toward. If we do this incorrectly, or carelessly, we cannot expect anything but unsatisfactory results, with interest fading day by day from our minds.

With one of my cameras, you must focus for the one big thing, leaving the rest to take care of itself as background. And that is like life, too. Do not attempt too many things at once—just one. And do that one thing well—better than it has ever been done before.

Learn to concentrate. Focus your mind and heart upon the big thing that you feel you are best adapted to carry through to its greatest result.

Focus until the image of your greatest desire stands clearly impressed upon your mind. Then click the shutter!

Our greatest and happiest successes are those upon which we have bent every effort we own.

This world is filled with people whose aims are all out of focus. And try as they may, they will never meet with anything but failure, until they change the position of their lens—their vision—and actually see what they want.

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Dollar wheat is here, according to Chicago market reports. In Chicago's wheat pit at the board of trade, pandemonium reigned. The country is face to face with a practical famine in immediately available wheat. In a speech in Indianapolis, yesterday, William Jennings Bryan declared that there was no more possibility of Grover Cleveland being nominated president than that the moon was made of cheese. He was anxious, he said, that the men who stand for "true Democracy" should control the state committees next year, and the way to do that was to organize.

The $75 phallon, which was given away at the National Hilliard hall by Mr. John Horlick, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, was won by Mr. Dan Dean.

The Pennsylvania depot was a scene of great activity last night, a large number of excursions taking their departure for Niagara Falls.

Four over it one cup of vinegar, and add one-half dozen hot red peppers which have been washed, seeded and cut small. Season with four tablespoons of salt and boil, in water to cover, until the okra is very tender (about 40 minutes), then can as above described for plain okra. Mrs. T. O'R.

"Pumpkin-Chip Preserve: Peel and halve several small ripe pumpkins, remove seeds and cut the remainder into thick chips. Weigh, and for each pound of pumpkin allow two cups of granulated sugar and one-half cup of lemon juice. Place the chips in a deep earthen dish in layers with sugar between. Pour the lemon juice over all. Let stand a full day, then turn the mixture into a preserving kettle and let boil till tender with a little water and lemon rind added to it (allow about one cupful of cold water for every three pounds of pumpkin, also one tablespoon of bruised ginger root tied in muslin, and three lemon peels shredded.) Turn the tender, cooked pumpkin into a stone jar and set away for one week in a cool place, covered. Then pour off the sirup from the chips and boil it down, till thick. Put the chips in glass jars and pour the thick sirup over them. Completely seal. Mrs. H."

"Pineapple-Apricot Jam: Three large or four small pineapples, two pounds of dried apricots, granulated sugar. Soak the dried apricots overnight, then put them through a food chopper. Also put the pared pineapples through the food chopper. Measure the mixture and to ten cups of it add seven cups of sugar. CIRCUS WILL PLAY IN XENIA AUG. 21

Lovers of out-of-the-ordinary amusement will be interested in the announcement that "Golden Bros. Big Four Ring Trained Wild Animal Circus" will be seen in Xenia afternoon and evening of Tuesday, August 21, presenting a large program of original and unique and thrilling feature animal acts.

Whatever your preference, you will find plenty to interest, astonish and edify you. There are the thrilling and phenomenal exhibition by fierce and wild beasts of all sorts, lions, tigers, bears, pumas and animals from every corner of the earth. In fact, so numerous and varied are the novelties offered in the four steel cages, and the four rings and upon the hippodrome track by this show that lack of space will not permit each to be mentioned.

The quantity and quality of the features are such as to really stagger comprehension, it matters not how big the "Golden Bros. Big Four Ring Trained Wild Animal Circus" may have been in the years gone by, this season they completely overwhelm all past efforts.

MAN 82 RIDES IN AIRPLANE FOR TRIP

William A. Harris, a veteran of the Civil War took a flight in the air for 10 minutes Sunday afternoon August 5 at Johnson's flying park, Dayton.

Although Mr. Harris's advanced age of 82, he seemed more than willing to experience his first trip in an airplane. He says the ride was great and was ready to go again as soon as he could reach the flying field.

Mr. Harris passed the anniversary of his 82 year May 17, being born and reared at Paintersville. He was a prominent farmer having lived on his farm south of James-town for the last 55 years, leaving the farm last summer for retirement on the account of ill health. Mr. Harris' health is a great deal better now and he is residing at his new home on Dayton Ave. Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Marchant, in company with Mr. Henry Marchant, of Dayton, and Mrs. Frank Marchant, of Roanok, Va., motored to Sabina, Sunday, and were the guests of relatives. They also attended the special service Sunday afternoon at the Allen Chapel, Rev. B. M. Marchant of the First Baptist Church, Chillicothe, preached.

Mr. Alonzo Ware, of East Market Street, preached his initial sermon at St. John's A. M. E. Church Tuesday evening at 7:30 to an appreciative audience. The text was "Abide in Me and I in You." Mr. Ware will be recommended to the next quarterly conference of that church for license as a local minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Matthews were called to Indianapolis to attend the funeral of Mr. Matthews' brother-in-law, Mr. Charles Lewis.

RECOGNITION ASSURED.

Washington, Aug. 14.—American recognition of the Obregon government of Mexico is assured. It was learned officially at the White House today. A treaty of commerce and amity covering all points of dispute between the two nations is in existence and ready to be signed. Promulgation of the treaty will be followed by formal recognition of the Mexican government.

Stop that Eczema!

A MAZING results have been produced by S. S. S. in cases of eczema, pimples, blackheads and other skin eruptions. If you have been troubled with eczema, and you have used skin applications without number, make a test yourself, on yourself with a bottle of S. S. S., one of the most powerful blood cleansers known. S. S. S. makes the blood rich and pure, and when your blood is freed of impurities your stubborn eczema, rash, tetter, skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, blotches and acne are bound to disappear. There are no unproven theories about S. S. S.; the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Takes Only 15 Minutes—No Fuss—No Bother

WOMEN everywhere are talking about Domino Curlette—the wonderful new liquid which in 15 minutes makes straight hair gloriously curly and wavy, and keeps it so for a week or more.

It's almost miraculous, the way it works. You just apply a few drops to the hair. Then use your favorite irons to shape and place the curls the way you like best. Or if you wish and have the time to spare you can use ordinary kid or silk curlers. In either case you will be just delighted with the beautiful wavy hair you will have acquired. Domino Curlette costs only a small amount for a bottle lasting a long time. Keep your hair full of life and fluff, as well as beautifully wavy. Get Domino Curlette today. Dollars for Charity—Pennies for Education

The two things most worthy of aid in our Country are charity and education. Everyone understands the importance of our charities and the worthy poor or unfortunate are sure to be cared for.

As to education; the grade schools are supported by local taxes and the state universities by public funds, while the hundreds of Christian colleges, the bulwark of higher education, must depend upon gifts and endowment funds provided by the comparatively few people who really appreciate the world's need of men and women with scholarly minds and strong characters.

On the other hand, charity has been widely advertised and is now more generously supported than our colleges and universities. For example, Cleveland, just one of many Ohio cities, through its Community Fund, raises annually $4,000,000 for charitable purposes. In terms of university endowment this sum represents the annual income from $80,000,000 or several times the existing endowments of all universities and colleges in Ohio.

Save at the Spigot and Waste at the Bung-hole. Economically, this system is wrong. It's a case of "Saving at the Spigot and Wasting at the Bung-hole." Every dollar invested in a Christian college like Ohio Wesleyan will save five dollars now necessary for charity. It is a dollar invested for truth, for human progress, for world betterment, for Christian education, the destroyer of superstition and ignorance which underlie most of our poverty and misfortune.

Would You Invest in a Bankrupt or a Going Concern?

The man who gives exclusively to charity is spending his money for upkeep and repairs. His investment is made for humanity in the hands of a receiver and helps keep a bankrupt concern going.

He who gives financial assistance to Ohio Wesleyan is investing in new construction—in men and women of tomorrow. His money goes to the building of "character" so essential to sound business, good government, and right civic leadership.

We would like to explain to you personally how you can perpetuate your name and that of your family by investing your dollars in Wesleyan's deeds:—How you can own a part of Ohio Wesleyan by subscribing to the $8,000,000 Development Program, covering necessary instruction endowment and new buildings.

Frankly, Ohio Wesleyan must get a substantial part of this amount from men and women like yourself, who see in Christian Education a great and precious thing—a chance to render the highest service to the world

FEW VOTES CAST AT PRIMARY HERE FOR COMMISSIONERS

Xenia citizens, Tuesday, at the rate of about $5 or more a vote, cast only about 200 votes in the primary to select candidate for the City Commission.

Through a clause in the city charter, the primary had little bearing on candidates as all were nominated and eligible to go the regular election ticket in November regardless of the votes they received.

This situation is believed to have contributed to the general lack of interest in the primary, and one of the smallest votes in the history of the city was cast. From 15 to 30 ballots were marked in each voting precinct.

S. M. McKay, incumbent and short term candidate, running without opposition, polled the highest vote in the primary, a total of 187. As he was without opposition the vote he received is indicative of the total cast, with the exception that he was not voted for in one precinct. The total vote will not exceed 200 votes.

Harry Sparks, new candidate, who will be a candidate at the regular term in opposition to Harry Fisher and Dr. C. G. McPherson, incumbents, for the long term, stood next highest on the list in the "straw vote" with Dr. McPherson third and Fisher fourth. The vote:

S. M. McKay	187
Harry Sparks	184
Dr. McPherson	172
Harry Fisher	100

Although figures were not available Wednesday, pending receipt of all bills, the cost of the primary will probably exceed $1,000 according to Carl Ervin, clerk of the election board.

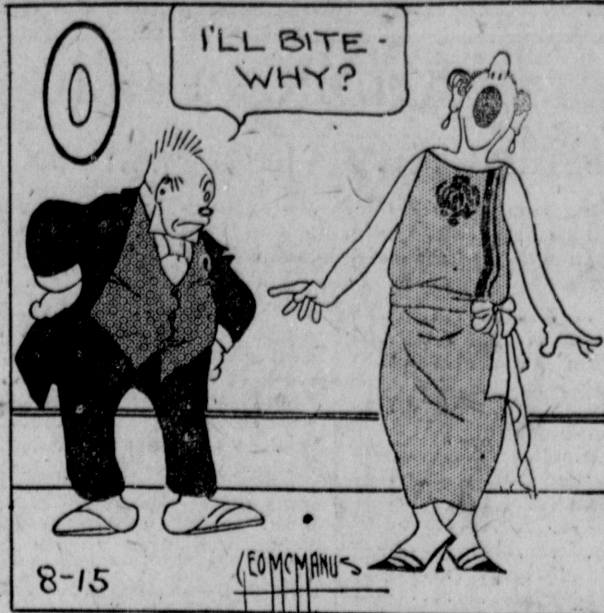

The primary was held through a clause in the city charter which permits twice as many candidates as there are vacancies to go on the regular election ticket, the highest candidates in the primary getting this honor. If there is a big field, low candidates are thus eliminated but in Tuesday's primary, the results had no effect on the status of the candidates before the regular election. Independents are not eligible for candidacy unless they come before the primary.

BRINGING UP FATHER

OHIO STANDS HIGH IN RURAL LEADERS ANALYSIS OF FARM WHO'S WHO SHOWS

Ohio is second in number of rural leaders sufficiently prominent to be listed in "Rus," the Who's Who of the American Countryside. Of a total of 4,342 leaders so listed, 306 were Ohio born. Not all of these leaders are still in the state. Listed by the number now resident, Ohio stands seventh in the Union, with 140 names.

This argues that the state is supplying leaders of the agricultural movement to all of the nation, comments C. E. Lively, professor of rural problems at the Ohio State University, who made the compilation from "Rus" on a state basis, so as to find whether the agricultural rank or a state in 1880 has since had any bearing on its contribution to national rural leadership.

The study is not yet completed. The count shows, however, that the greatest number of rural leaders, so far, have been supplied by the older states with a permanent agriculture. New York leads, with 405 of those listed in "Rus" having been born there. Then comes Ohio, with 306; Illinois with 297; Pennsylvania with 251; Iowa with 244; Wisconsin, 210; Michigan, 200.

Listing the leaders by their present location, irrespective of their place of birth, the greatest number are found in Washington, D. C., at the offices of the federal department of agriculture. New York follows with 324, just two less than are in the District of Columbia. Pennsylvania is third with 179, and then come Illinois, 175; California, 172; and Minnesota, 171.

L. H. Bailey, compiler of "Rus" is a former dean of the New York State College of Agriculture.

WHEAT CAN BE FED OWING TO LOW PRICE OF WHEAT

Quite a few farmers are holding their crop for feeding purposes. With corn at present prices this is a wise move. For growing stock wheat is much superior to corn as a feed. It can be used for fattening, mixed with corn.

The analysis of wheat shows that it is higher than corn in protein, about the same in starch and somewhat lower in fat. For growing pigs crushed wheat and oats mixed is an excellent feed. For fattening hogs crushed wheat with corn may be used.

For dairy cows it can be ground with the other grains. Being a great egg producer, wheat this year should find a place in the scratch of all laying hens and should be ground in the mash for young and old chickens.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE AS STEAMER CATCHES FIRE

Montreal, Que., Aug. 14.—Eighty

members of the Massachusetts delegation of the Knights of Columbus had a narrow escape today when the steamer Montreal caught fire.

The Montreal was ignited by the steamer Rita B, which was destroyed. As the Rita B, drifted near, the Montreal caught fire but firemen were able to save her. There was no panic.

Nearly 100 Toronto excursionists also were on the Montreal.

MAKES THE DEAF HEAR

Here's good news for all who suffer from deafness. The Dictograph Products Corporation announces the perfection of a remarkable device which has enabled thousands of deaf persons to hear as well as ever. The makers of this wonderful device say it is too much to expect you to believe this, so they are going to give you a chance to try it at home. They offer to send it by prepaid parcel post on a ten-day free trial. They do not send it C. O. D.—they require no deposit—there is no obligation. They send it entirely at their own expense and risk. They are making this extraordinary offer well knowing that the magic of this little instrument will so amaze and delight the user that the chances of its being returned are very slight. Thousands have already accepted this offer and report most gratifying results. There's no longer any need that you should endure the mental and physical strain which comes from a constant effort to hear. Now you can mingle with your friends without that feeling of sensitiveness from which all deaf persons suffer. Now you can take your place in the social and business world to which your talents entitle you and from which your affliction has, in a measure, excluded you. Just send your name and address to the Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 1332, 220 W. 42nd St. New York, for descriptive literature and request blank.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

THE LAST MONTHS OF MY GIRLHOOD.

Chapter 1.

I was but 18 years old when I fell in love. "Head over heels," my grandmother declared, just because I wouldn't say I'd wait until I was 20 to marry. The family all objected. Families always do. I have found out, for one reason or another. But Paul was so handsome, just my ideal of what a man should be. Tall, broad-shouldered, narrow hips, with a great shock of brown hair, and good features. I thought him perfect, although the family said he was selfish, that he always thought of himself first.

"It's big I, little you, with him, Sis," my brother Tom told me. But I never paid any attention to Tom. He was only two years older than I was and had always tried to boss me. What if Paul did not want to do things that didn't interest him? Surely he should not be blamed for that. And what if he did like to choose the places we visited—I never objected, why should the family? As long as I was with him I didn't care where we went, what we did—then.

Once Tom asked: "Has Paul ever told you he thought you pretty, Sis? I'll bet he hasn't. He's too busy thinking of himself." "I can look in the mirror," I replied snappily. "I don't need to be told what I already know."

"Modest little violet," Tom teased, tweaking my ear. At this moment I became human. I went to the mirror and looked at myself, Ruby Atkins, in the full light from the window. This, with Tom looking on, took courage.

There I stood, at me gray eyes, large and widely opened, brows that arched prettily, an oval face with a red mouth that held little of determination, a pouting mouth, dimpled at the corners; hair that was thick and black in the shadows, almost red where the light rested. I was tall and slender, almost as tall as brother Tom. I was glad of this for Paul was six feet one and a half.

"Satisfied?" Tom asked with a malicious grin as I turned from the mirror.

"Perfectly," I rejoined. "And you never want Paul to flatter you, tell you he thinks you are the loveliest creature in the world, and—" "Paul doesn't talk much. I hate it!" I interrupted.

"You're different from the girls I run around with if you don't like flattery. They fairly eat it up. But, Sis, be careful you keep your Paul on his pedestal. It will be a sorry day for you when you let him down."

I had been cross with Tom for talking so of Paul, yet what he said ranked a bit. Did all young men flatter the girls they went with? Some had talked nonsense to me, boring me. But it would be nice to have Paul say flattering things.

That very night when he called I asked:

"Do I look nice, Paul?" I knew I did. My dress was new and becoming.

"Why, yes, you always look all right," he answered, then commenced to talk of how he had spent the day. But I was satisfied with his reply. He thought I always looked nice, so he saw no need of remarking on it. He wasn't silly like, brother Tom and his crowd. He was too clever to be silly.

Paul Norwood was just 25, seven years older than I was. Naturally, he wouldn't do and say the foolish things Tom did, when Tom was only 20. Anyway I thought him immensely superior. He had no family, was all alone in the world except a sister, unmarried and much older than he, who lived in the far west. It was no wonder he didn't understand some of the things my family said and did. There were such a lot of us. Father said we had numbers instead of money. Not that we were really poor, but we had to plan to make ends meet. I had been told that when I married my husband could expect no help from father. He would support us as long as we remained at home, but not if we left him.

But this didn't worry me. Paul had some money left him by his father, who had died while he was in college.

Kitchen Slavery Has Been Abolished

By The Introduction of the Ready Canned

"E" BRAND PRODUCTS

Because grandmother was unable to have wholesome, delicious canned goods unless the work was done in her own kitchen is no reason why you should toil in a hot kitchen doing just as she did. Grandmother left her spinning wheel and bought factory made materials just as soon as the art was perfected.

IF GRANDMOTHER WERE LIVING NOW

she would point out the folly of wearing out your health and strength in home canning after factory canning has been developed to the perfection found in "E" BRAND PRODUCTS. Grandmother would assure herself of three things: First, that the canning was done under conditions as clean and sanitary as her own kitchen; Second, that all the materials used were of finest quality; Third, food expert that she was, she would taste it critically to find out whether or not it had that rich, indescribable, joy-giving tang that is called the HOME COOKED FLAVOR. Then—

and knowing that the sustenance and health of her family had been looked after as expertly as her own hands could do it she would devote her time to other pressing modern needs. BE AT LEAST AS PROGRESSIVE AS YOUR OWN GRANDMOTHER, and accept new ways as readily as she did.

COUNT UP THE COST

of the fresh products, sugar and other ingredients, cost of fuel, cans and accessories and you will see the economy of buying "E" BRAND ready canned goods.
